

HONG KONG: RESISTANCE AND ACTIVISM

ONLINE PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SEMINAR

In this seminar, we will explore Hong Kong's history, focusing on its people's resistance and activism through Louisa Lim's 2022 book Indelible City. This illuminating work amplifies Hong Kongers' voices, challenging narratives centered on British colonialism and the 1997 handover. Richly researched and featuring firsthand accounts, the book reveals the city's long struggle for sovereignty. Geared toward middle and secondary teachers, participants will gain insights into Hong Kong's past, the 2019 protests, their aftermath, and its future. The seminar includes discussions on Lim's text, supplemental materials, educator dialogues, and a meeting with the author.

JAN 27 - MAR 9, 2025

Featuring a webinar (TBD) with author and award-winning journalist, Louisa Lim. Lim reported from China for a decade with NPR and the BBC and co-hosts The Little Red Podcast on China. She is an Associate Professor at the University of Melbourne, teaching audio journalism and podcasting and holds a PhD in journalism studies.

Course Format:

The seminar includes five asynchronous online modules with readings and discussions. Online introductions begin on Jan 27, 2025, and modules run from Feb 3 to Mar 9, 2025. A Curriculum Implementation Plan (CIP) is due March 24, 2025.

Eligibility:

This course is open to secondary contract teachers nationwide. Priority for social studies, humanities, and literature teachers.

Benefits:

Access to materials online or via download. Upon completion of course and attendance to author webinar: $100 award, certificate for 24 hours, and $15 book reimbursement.

For inquiries: Lynn Kalinauskas
lynn.kalinauskas@colorado.edu

APPLY ONLINE AT:
tinyurl.com/TEAcourseregistration

This course is made possible through funding from the Freeman Foundation to the National Consortium for Teaching about Asia, Program for Teaching East Asia, University of Colorado Boulder.