

National Opportunities

National Opportunities

Colorado Programs

NCTA News

Deadline. Wednesday, October 10, 2012. 2013 Reischauer Scholars Program. The Reischauer Scholars Program (RSP) is an online course for high school students sponsored by the Stanford Program on International and Cross-Cultural Education. The RSP annually selects 25 to 30 exceptional high school students from across the United States to engage in intensive study of Japan. More information and an application are available at spice.stanford.edu/docs/reischauer_scholars_program.

Wednesday, October 17, and Tuesday, October 23, 2012. Foot Binding in China and Pictures from a Hiroshima Schoolyard. The Five College Center for East Asian Studies offers these two free webinars for K-12 educators. Both webinars will be held from 7:00-8:00 p.m. EDT. For more information and to register, visit www.smith.edu/fcceas.

Thursday, November 8, 2012. Educating for Global Competence: Preparing Our Youth to Engage the World. Asia Society Vice President for Education Tony Jackson and Harvard professor Veronica Boix-Mansilla will be featured on the web interview series Future of Education discussing their book, Educating for Global Competence. For more information on the 8 p.m. EDT program, visit www.futureofeducation.com. The Asia Society is also sponsoring a free yearlong webinar series, Global Learning for Educators; for information on the series, visit asiasociety.org/webinars.

Deadline. November 20, 2012, and March 10, 2013. Call for Manuscripts: "Asian Visual and Performing Arts, Part II" (November) and "Cyber Asia and the New Media" (March). Education about Asia invites manuscripts, including submissions from classroom teachers, on these two themes. Prospective authors are encouraged to share possible manuscript ideas with EAA's editor, Lucien Ellington, at l-ellington@comcast.net. The EAA guidelines for submissions are available at www.asian-studies.org.

Deadline. Monday, December 10, 2012. Fulbright Hays Seminars Abroad Program to China. Open to K-12 educators and administrators with responsibility for curriculum development in fields related to humanities, languages, and area studies, this summer 2013 program will provide a broad cultural orientation to China. The program is geared towards educators with little or no experience in China. Participants are responsible for a cost-share, usually $450, as well as travel insurance, required inoculations, and passport and visa costs. Airfare, room and board, fees, and program-related travel within China are supported by the project. For application and details, visit www2.ed.gov/programs/iegpssap/sapfacts.html.

An Interpretive History of Japan: Paradoxes in a Nation's History. The Stanford Program on International and Cross-Cultural Education (SPICE) announces the availability of a new web-based curriculum that features six lectures by Stanford Professor Emeritus Daniel Okimoto, each with an accompanying lesson plan developed by SPICE. The curriculum is suitable for secondary and community college students. Details on the curriculum are available at spice.stanford.edu. A one-time access fee of $10 is charged.

JAID (Japan Artists Information Directory). JAID is a database of information about performers and teachers of traditional Japanese performing arts based in the United States. Created by the Five College Center for East Asian Studies, the JAID database is available online for organizations and individuals seeking information on performers and teachers. If you are an artist who would like to be listed in the database, contact JAID project staff at jaid@fivecolleges.edu. For more information, contact Anne Prescott at aprescott@fivecolleges.edu.

Primary Source 2012-2013 Asia-Related Programs. During the 2012-2013 school year, Primary Source will be offering several Asia-related online courses, as well as a spring study tour to China. Among the online courses are The Enduring Legacy of Ancient China and Changing China: History and Culture since 1644. For more information about course content and registration, including fees and scholarships, visit www.primarysource.org.onlinecourses.

Colorado Programs

Deadline. Wednesday, October 10, 2012. Creating an Interactive Learning Chinese Classroom through Multiple Strategies and Activities. The Colorado Chinese Language Teachers Consortium is offering this one-day workshop from 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, October 20. Teachers Chin-Chin Fan and Xiaohong Teng will share classroom strategies, and Calligraphy Master Harrison Xinshi Tu will demonstrate hands-on activities for using calligraphy to teach Chinese language. The workshop will take place from 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. at the Denver Confucius Classroom, 2555 S. Santa Fe, Denver. More information and registration form are available at www.ccltc.org.

Thursday, October 25, 2012. Japanese American Relations: A Personal Odyssey. Mariko Terasaki Miller, the first woman to be appointed an Honorary Consul-General of Japan, will discuss her childhood experiences in China during the Sino/Japanese war and her father Hidenari Terasaki's role in negotiations between Japan and the United States prior to the outbreak of the Pacific War. The event, sponsored by the Center for Asian Studies, the Japanese American Association of Colorado, and Peace and Conflict Studies and International Affairs at CU-Boulder, will be from 5:00-6:00 p.m. in Room 250 of the Humanities Building on the CU-Boulder campus.

Monday, October 29, 2012. China Town Hall. China Town Hall is a national day of China-related programming designed to provide Americans with an opportunity to discuss issues related to U.S.-China relations with leading experts in the field. This year's program will open with a webcast from Beijing, featuring Gary Locke, U.S.

ambassador to China; the webcast will be followed by a local speaker. The program, sponsored by the Center for Asian Studies and the National Committee on U.S.-China Relations, will begin at 5:30 p.m. in Abram's Lounge, Center for Community, on the CU-Boulder campus. Admission: $10 (waived with student ID).

NCTA News

The National Consortium for Teaching about Asia will be hosting several activities at the National Council for the Social Studies conference to be held in Seattle, WA, November 15-17. Among these activities are:

Thursday, November 15:

- Outlines of Buddhism in East Asia, an all-day off-site clinic at the Seattle Asian Art Museum, presented by Mary Cingcade, Melanie King, et al.

Friday, November 16:

- Using Technology to Explore Japan's History and Society, by Naomi Funahashi et al.
- Asian Immigration, 1880-1940, by Patrick Grant
- Mao to Now: What Students Need to Know about China, by Tese Neighbor

Saturday, November 17:

- Asia Community Breakfast
- Exploring Asia through Performing Arts, by Mary Cingcade and Tikka Seas
- The Future Is Asia: What Everyone Should Know, by Anand A. Yang
- Create Curiosity with Images as Windows to Historic Events, by Mary Bernson and Pat Burleson
- Divided Memories: Teaching about Bias and Perspective in History Textbooks, by Ryland Sekiguchi

On Friday and Saturday, NCTA will also host an exhibit booth in the International Alley section of the exhibit hall. Stop by the booth to learn more about new resources and opportunities or to network with program alums and staff.

For more information on any of these activities, visit www.NCTAsia.org.

To subscribe or unsubscribe from this list, please contact laurel.singleton@colorado.edu.

The Program for Teaching East Asia

University of Colorado at Boulder
595 UCB
Boulder, CO
80309

(303) 735-5122