

COMM 3620 -- Advanced Teamwork & Collaboration

Explores communication and collaboration in complex situations, including extreme environments like space travel and polar exploration. It reviews and applies theories of team communication to better understand work challenges in isolated, confined, and extreme environments. As a class we will identify communication issues and interventions relevant in complex organizing or dangerous situations.

Counts toward the CU Space Minor.