Director's Note

Before coming to CU Boulder to earn my PhD, I spent five years teaching high school in Littleton, Colorado. In my time as a public school teacher, I saw first hand the damage that parents can and do inflict on their children. I also saw many young men and women who flourished despite that damage. I have met so many Ruths who withered in the presence of parental radiation, and thankfully, even more Tillies who bloomed despite it. Paul Zindel himself was a high school teacher, and wrote this Pulitzer Prize winning play from that unique perspective. Though the play is over 40 years old, and though the world has changed so much in that time, Marigold's truths still resonate today, the beautiful and the ugly.

There will be one 15-minute intermission.

This production is entered in the Kennedy Center American College Theater Festival (KCACTF). The aims of this national theater education program are to identify and promote quality in college-level theater production. To this end, each production entered is eligible for a response by a regional KCACTF representative, and selected students and faculty are invited to participate in KCACTF programs involving scholarships, internships, grants and awards for actors, directors, dramaturgs, playwrights, designers, stage managers and critics at both the regional and national levels.

Productions entered on the Participating level are eligible for invitation to the KCACTF regional festival and may also be considered for national awards recognizing outstanding achievement in production, design, direction and performance.

Last year more than 1,300 productions were entered in the KCACTF involving more than 200,000 students nationwide.
By entering this production, our theater department is sharing in the KCACTF goals to recognize, reward, and celebrate the exemplary work produced in college and university theaters across the nation.
