GLOBAL GENDER AND SEXUALITY STUDIES CERTIFICATE

The Department of Women and Gender Studies offers an undergraduate certificate in global gender and sexuality studies, providing students with an opportunity to study how individuals and groups from diverse gender, racial, ethnic, national, class and sexual backgrounds live in and engage with the world and how processes of global change affect gender relations locally, nationally and internationally. The certificate is designed for students who wish to understand, analyze and respond to these dramatic global transformations and their impact on women and gender relations, complementing students' majors and interests and preparing them for graduate studies and employment.

Certificate Requirements

18 credit hours of specified course work, including 12 credit hours at the upper-division level.

Appropriate topics courses offered by other departments and programs—those that deal centrally with issues of gender and/or sexuality in global context—may count for upper division elective credit with the permission of the department's director of undergraduate studies. Students must get the director's approval beforehand, or credit toward the certificate is not guaranteed.

Study Abroad and CU Global Seminars

Appropriate study abroad courses and CU Global Seminars that deal centrally with issues of gender and/or sexuality in global context may count for lower- or upper-division elective credit with the permission of the department's director of undergraduate studies. Only CU-sponsored study abroad programs and Global Seminars will count as CU credit. Appropriate study abroad courses taken through other accredited study abroad programs may count for elective transfer credit with the permission of the director of undergraduate studies. In all of these cases, students must get the director's approval beforehand, or credit toward the certificate is not guaranteed.
